It is said that a friend in need is a friend indeed. The index of true friendship is the help that we get when we are in times of distress. It is common to find the kith and kin pour their affection on the person who cares for the family so long as he is wealthy and healthy. The very same group will avoid him if he faces a great ordeal. By all means wise counsel must be given without fear. We have seen that it is usual for those in service just to echo the views of their masters. They will only try not to displease their boss lest they should lose their job. It is no wonder that on some occasions they will even make him do a misdeed if it will serve their purpose. It is true that an employer does not like his views to be opposed. At the same time, it is only right for truth to be spelt out. So, it is the duty of honest men to give sane advice if they want to save their friends from danger.

It may be said that humility is one of the best traits of a learned man. The greater the humility, the greater will be the respect of people for him. It is usual for such a man to understand the feelings of others and he will not injure them.

He will be too glad to proclaim the help that he has received from others. At the same time, he will also share his joy with those who helped him succeed.

We all know that there is a spirit of revenge in each one of us. To hit back when hurt is the nature of any person. It is a fact that people will not realise their evil deeds. They will only try all means to evade penalty. On the other hand, the wise will not feel pained when abused. To be kind even to the enemy is indeed a rare trait found only in a few. But all of us should aim to have this trait. If we want this to be achieved, we should din into the young minds the need to give up envy. If we see those who are more wealthy than we, it will be good for us to feel happy and wish them further prosperity. So far as those who enjoy the same status and other comforts as we do are concerned, we must be friendly. If we think of those who are less fortunate and who are poor, it is our duty to show them sympathy and try to help them as far as we can. If this attitude is adopted, the future of a growing child is assured.
